which saw their inauguration during his administration as president. Father Burns came to Notre Dame as president, succeeding Father John Cavanaugh, in 1919. He had previously graduated from Notre Dame in 1894, receiving a Master of Arts degree, later studying theology at the university from 1890 to 1892, when he was ordained. Father Burns after his ordination remained at Notre Dame for seven years, serving as instructor in the College of Science during this period. He left Notre Dame in July, 1920 to become president and professor of moral theology at Holy Cross College at Washington, D. C., remaining there until his appointment as president of Notre Dame in 1921. Father Burns is nationally famous not only as an educator, but also as an author, most of whose works have been confined to theological subjects. He was born in Michigan City, Ind., on Feb. 13, 1867.

Former Overseas Chaplain. Father Walsh, who has served as vice-president under two previous administrations, is the first to be chosen as president from that office. He graduated from Notre Dame in 1903, later receiving a degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Catholic University in 1909. Father Walsh made a particular study of American and European history and was appointed as professor in this department at Notre Dame in 1908. Three years later he was named vice-president of an office which he has since occupied.

During the World War, Father Walsh served as chaplain overseas, acting as base chaplain at Paris. He was the recipient of the Medal of Distinguished Service for his efficient and tireless service overseas and was also elevated to the rank of Captain.

After the war, Father Walsh returned to the university and resumed his work as vice-president and in the history department. In addition to this work, he directed the "Endowment Drive" in the Chicago district during the last winter.

Father Walsh's successor, Father Thomas Irving, graduated from Notre Dame in 1905 and also received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Catholic University, obtaining it in 1909. Father Irving returned to Notre Dame three years later to take the appointment of Rector of Holy Cross College, an office which he held for seven years, being chosen director of studies in 1919. The following year he was sent to St. Edward's College at Austin, Texas, where he served as a member of the faculty, and he became superior of the Moreau Seminary.

In addition to these changes in the executive offices, many other were also announced at the close of the chapter meeting. New rectors were announced to take charge of nearly every hall at the university. Father Alphonsus of Brownson hall, being the only one disappointed.

The other changes were as follows: Appointment of Father Thomas Carey as rector of Sorin hall, succeeding Father Patrick Haggerty; transferring of Father Hagerty to become rector of Walsh hall, displacing Father John Devereaux; appointment of Father Devereaux as rector of Carroll hall; appointment of Father Hugh O'Donnell as rector of Radin hall; and the naming of Father Timothy Murphy, formerly prefect of discipline from 1907 to 1910, as rector of Corby hall.

Father Thomas Steiner, who has been purchasing agent of the university during the last year, is transferred to the faculty of St. Edward's college, Austin, Tex., and will be succeeded by Brother R. J. Gleason. Father Bernard Lang, physical director at the college, has also been appointed to the St. Edward's college faculty, while Father Walter O'Donnell of the St. Edward's faculty will be transferred to Notre Dame.

Two other priests have been transferred from the university. Father Joseph Donahue being sent to Columbia College at Portland, Ore., while Father George Marx will assume his duties at Holy Cross College at Washington.

Plans More Signs. The question of additional signs to be placed about the downtown section designating the time limit and method of parking to be allowed was definitely postponed until a more complete investigation has been made. The number of signs required and the locations of such signs caused the board to make the postponement.

As a matter of formality, the position of rector of the St. Joseph's Seminary was declared vacant by the board. Stringham was found on Chapin st. in an intoxicated condition last Saturday night by Sgt. Ben. Roberts, who had received complaints from residents of that vicinity. ## MONTGOMERY FLAYS DIVORCE SEEKER IN CONTEMPT FINDINGS

Court Holds Pending of Suit Is No Ground for Not Supporting Wife.

Ward R. Curtis, a railroad mail clerk, learned in superior court No. 1 yesterday afternoon that a man must support his wife no matter if divorce proceedings are pending.

Curtis appeared before Judge Chester R. Montgomery on a citation for contempt for not complying with a court order issued last January that he should contribute $10 weekly to his wife's support. He had previously brought divorce proceedings.

Judge Montgomery found the man guilty of contempt and sentenced him to serve 60 days in jail but suspended the sentence. The marriage arrangement as shown by the county clerk's support docket was $214, and the husband's payments Judge Montgomery calculated averaged but $27.50 weekly.

The court remitted the amount and Curtis was behind and started him out with a new slate modifying the order to the extent that he should contribute but $8 weekly. The chances are, however, that she would not be in the hospital where she was suffering from that malady.

Curtis, it was shown, was earning between $155 and $165 monthly as a railroad mail clerk.

"There has been no effort on the part of this man to economize," said Judge Montgomery. "Particular circumstances exist here, and this husband must realize that he must cut the cloth to fit. His affidavit shows he spent nearly $50 a month for the past three months for food. He could have done so when I had to and surely others can do it."

In making his decision on the case Judge Montgomery declared that while there was no law in Indiana on this point, he was raising a question as to whether the law holds that a husband has no standing in a court where he filed divorce proceedings when he pleads poverty as an excuse for not supporting his wife during pendency of the action.

Puncher, Judge Montgomery said there are cases where courts have suspended action until the time that he was able to support his wife or at least not permit a hearing on a divorce decree till court orders governing support have been fully complied with.

Curtis, it was shown, is caring for two children of the litigants and contributes regularly to their maintenance. They are at present in the custody of Curtis' parents.

The police ambulance was called and removed Coon to the St. Joseph's hospital, where Dr. J. A. Dugan was called to attend him. Coon is manager of the Coon Construction Co., road contractors.

Health Crusade Continues With 'Axe' as Weapon

Failure of Owners to Comply With Orders Cause Health Department to Act.

The health crusade against outbuildings found its second and third victims Friday when Health Officer Essex and his men visited the premises of 621 and 621 1-2 Niles av., and demolished two such buildings with the axe, filled in the vaults and completed their work by cleaning up the yards.

The tenants with their neighbors stood by and watched the work of destruction. "Bravo" and "Ho to it; we're for you" were exclamations freely voiced by the onlookers. From all appearances the neighborhood indicated the occasion was auspicious of holiday.

To Enforce Order. The Essex workers started their campaign with the destruction of an outbuilding at 734 S. Michigan st., belonging to Mrs. Grace Flood and her two sisters, Misses Gertrude and Edith Brown. The next owner-visit to feel the decree of the health department was Sarah Beman, local attorney. Negligence to abide by the order for removal of such nuisance and make connections with sewerage lines, resulted in adoption of stricter measures for abatement.

Two more premises are marked for destruction later in the day, according to Officer Essex. "We are taking them in turn," he said, "with our first efforts confined to the second zone."

Only about half a dozen places are affected in this zone, the survey shows. Next to follow will be zone No. 3.

Location of Zone. Zone No. 2, exclusive of zone No. 1, which is within its borders, runs along Lincoln way E., from Bronson st. to a point marked by the center line of Hill st., extended; along this line to Bartlett st., produced east; thence east to point of beginning of zone No. 1; thence south to Scott st.; thence south to Scott st. to Bronson st., and thence east to point of beginning of zone No. 2. It lies next beyond zone No. 2 in an irregular circle somewhat similar to that described for zone No. 2.

Lads at Camp Greet Inoculation as Bug Spreads its Disease

Camp Elmhurst, the Y. M. C. A. summer resort at Corey Lake, is now being infected with a microbe which has almost completely upset all plans made by the campers as to how the summer would be spent at the camp.

Great numbers have already been made and no effectual means to check the spread of the inoculation has been devised, and, according to reports, everyone at the camp is happy at being made a victim of the microbe.

In common parlance, the 'golf bug' is the microbe which has wrought such havoc in upsetting the anticipated routine of camp life. The addition of a nine-hole golf course to the camp this year has not met with universal favor, but the fact that the addition was made after the camp had opened for the season caught the campers unprepared in that no golf clubs have been taken along.

Great numbers of frequent trips have been made to the city, and on every trip 'Dad' Coulson has taken back a camp several sets of clubs, and at the present time about 30 outfits are in use there, and the handicaps of a lack of clubs has about been overcome.

Plans are now underway for a championship tournament before the close of the camp. The general consensus of opinion of those interested in the conduct of the telephone company's rate policy is that an increase will be granted but it will not be the maximum sought by the company but proportional as in the decision in the Muncie telephone rate case.

Red Cross Home Service Dept. Aids Many Veterans

Two Cases of Longstanding Settled as Back Compensation Checks Are Received and Permanent Income is Assured—Bureau Gets Many Calls.

The activities of the Home Service section of the American Red Cross in assisting former service men in presenting claims of various kinds against the government has resulted in the closing of a number of long standing cases within the last month, according to the report of Mary A. Stone, executive secretary of the local section. For two years the local office has been working on a compensation case of an ex-soldier whose disability made it necessary for his mother to work to support the family. Through the efforts of the Red Cross the veteran's bureau has just received a check for $1500 and $80 a month thereafter.

Another case of long standing, has just been settled by the receipt of a check for back compensation amounting to over $1000, and the veteran will receive an allowance of $22 a month hereafter. This man who has become practically blind as a result of trachoma, by receiving this favorable report on his case, has succeeded in establishing that his affliction was brought on by his service during the war, and in addition to receiving his compensation, he will be entitled to apply for vocational training.

Two other cases of long standing in the month's activities, but of a different nature, were settled by the receipt of a check for $1000, and the veteran will receive an allowance of $22 a month hereafter. This man who has become practically blind as a result of trachoma, by receiving this favorable report on his case, has succeeded in establishing that his affliction was brought on by his service during the war, and in addition to receiving his compensation, he will be entitled to apply for vocational training.

TO FILE BRIEFS AS FINAL FIGHT ON 'PHONE RATE

City Attorney to Make Final Effort to Defeat Attempt to Raise Rates.

Filing of a brief with the Indiana Public Utility commission will constitute the last step in the city's effort to prevent an increase in telephone rates for South Bend and Mishawaka, L. W. Hammond, city attorney, declared Friday morning.

The brief, he said, would point out to the commission that the city's position on what constituted duplication of property was entirely different than that taken both by the commission and by the telephone corporation.

The city's position, said Mr. Hammond, is that duplication of property includes not only that paraphernalia which is usable and used but which is non-usable and in the conduct of the telephone business. The position of the commission and the utility, however, reveals that property which is either usable or in use is not a duplication.

This has been the one contention of the city in its fight against increased rates. The two cities have long contended that the absorption of the automatic with the Bell number plan years ago brought into American industry a new basis for padding valuation figures, on which investment the telephone company seeks additional revenue.

The general consensus of opinion of those interested in the conduct of the telephone company's rate policy is that an increase will be granted but it will not be the maximum sought by the company but proportional as in the decision in the Muncie telephone rate case.

Police Could Act

The injunction suit had the effect to knock out the present city ordinance governing shoe shine stands as invalid. Mr. Hammond in his argument admitting this on the ground that an ordinance which attempts to impose a penalty for an act which already has been made a misdemeanor is unconstitutional.

The basis of Mr. Hammond's argument in seeking to have the injunction dissolved was that the stands were occupying a part of the street which they had no right. The police department might use physical means for disposing of the stands, or it might use the ordinance to remove them, but the ordinance was unconstitutional, was Mr. Hammond's comment.
